About

I am a Design Consultant with over eleven years of experience in editorial design, events, branding and digital.

Over the course of my career I have worked on more than 600 magazines and for the past seven years I have managed and overseen publications from initial concept through to final output.

My work combines strong typography, structured layout systems, and careful production management to ensure every publication maintains high visual standards while remaining efficient to produce.

Alongside my hands-on design experience, managing a team has given me a broader perspective on how people approach problems, interpret briefs and develop ideas. My experience also extends beyond the screen, working on international events and seeing creative work come to life in physical environments.
